

PetOnlineHospital.com is a website dedicated to pet troubleshooting and pet supplies purchase recommendations.

PetOnlineHospital.com works with several professional veterinarians to help you online.

Because of the current epidemic, you may not be able to go out or be afraid to go out. But there are some unseen conditions in the pet that cause worry.

In order to solve this problem, PetOnlineHospital.com provides online doctor help.

You can directly communicate with doctors about pet problems or abnormalities online, and learn more about them through photos, texts, and even videos. And through the cooperation of this website with the pet hospital, you can directly express the pet supplies or medicine you need to your door.

PERSONAS

Bob Smith
21 years old male

Bob is a college student, and all courses become online due to the epidemic. His puppy has been vomiting recently, but he is very busy with online classes every day, and he has no time to take it to the doctor. And it doesn't seem to be serious. Bob feels that there is no need to go to the pet hospital specifically for this matter.

Therefore, Bob directly explain the recent puppy's condition to the doctor through the PetOnlineHospital.com website. See what the doctor thinks about this. And Bob just easily buy drugs directly on the website.

Kelly Clark
38 years old female

Kelly is an employee of a financial company. She usually go to work and can only rest on weekends. She also raised a cat as a companion in her life. But recently her cat looks sluggish, but otherwise everything is normal. Kelly wants to take it to the hospital, but usually there is not enough time, and the precious weekends are usually used for rest. And the cat doesn't have any urgent issues, and it doesn't look so serious that it has to go to the hospital.

So Kelly directly asked about the cat on the PetOnlineHospital.com website. In the end, it may be due to insufficient nutrition, so I bought some nutrients on the website.

COMPS

